

Army Emergency Relief Fund drive begins April 1

The Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center and Presidio of Monterey will conduct its annual Army Emergency Relief fund raising campaign April 1-May 1.

During this once a year event, the Army asks active duty soldiers and retirees to contribute to this organization. Individuals may contribute through payroll deduction or cash.

The AER provided $66,955.29 to 117 soldiers, retirees and their families in the POM community in 1999. More than $5,600 of that amount was given in the form of grants.

"Nowhere else is this kind of generous assistance available to help Army families in times of need," said Col. Daniel Devlin, commander of DLIFLC and POM and commandant of DLIFLC, in a recent letter on the campaign. "I encourage the same outstanding voluntary support that made last year's campaign such a great success."

Army Emergency Relief is a privately run, non-profit organization, funded strictly by active duty soldiers' and retirees donations. It was established in 1942 to help soldiers and their families overcome times of distress and misfortune.

Those eligible for AER assistance include active duty soldiers and their family members, members of USAR and ARNG on continuous active duty for 30 days or more, retired Army members and their family members, and widowed spouses and orphans of soldiers who died while on active duty or retired.

AER financial assistance is given when a qualifying individual cannot pay for basic needs essential to continued personal effectiveness as a member of the military.

AER believes that it is better to be on the side of generosity, however, assistance is not provided for non-essentials or to supplement income for people who lack the self-discipline to live within their means.

AER will not use contributed dollars to help with "wants" and "desires" – "needs" are first priority.

"Soldiers taking care of soldiers is what Army Emergency Relief is all about," said Devlin. "For more than half a century, when soldiers needed help, Army Emergency Relief has been there."

The AER Office also offers budget counseling, financial planing, financial management classes and advice on consumer affairs.

For more information, contact the Army Emergency Relief office at 242-5501 or Army Community Service at 242-7660.

From the desk of the Garrison Commander

Commander discusses volunteer recognition

Hello all,

I want to talk to you about our installation volunteers. Volunteers have undertaken many responsibilities that promote the general welfare of the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center and Presidio of Monterey and have demonstrated a spirit of personal concern and wholehearted willingness to help others.

The importance of volunteer service performed by members of this community in scope and meaning reflects the military caring for its own in the finest sense of that tradition.

To pay tribute and recognize the service rendered by volunteers, the DLIFLC and POM is hosting an Installation Volunteer Recognition Ceremony at the General Stilwell

Community Center, Presidio of Monterey Annex, April 26.

Volunteers must be registered with all organizations on the installation. Please provide your list of volunteers to Army Community Service Volunteer Program Coordinator on a diskette which can be accessed using Microsoft Word 6, or 97, Excel, Windows 95, or Windows NT programs. Individuals who volunteered between one and eight hours in activities off post will be recognized during National Volunteer week at Munakata Hall, Bldg. 610, Presidio of Monterey, April 18.

Our volunteers contribute significantly not only to the quality of life in our military community, but also in our surrounding communities. I encourage everyone to get involved in

Army Col. Peter Dausen
Garrison Commander

Thanks for listening.

CDS celebrates Month of the Military Child

April 1 marks the beginning of Month of the Military Child for the Department of the Defense.

The Month of the Military Child is a time to recommit ourselves as a community to ensuring that each and every child receives the type of early education environment – at home, at child care, at school, and in the community that will promote their early childhood development. Making the early years count as the best learning years for all children – that's what the Month of the Military Child is all about.

Child Development Services will celebrate by hosting many events during April. Each Friday at the Monterey Road Child Development Center an activity is planned for children and their families. Parents are encouraged to come to the Child Development Center and spend time with their children enjoying fun, food and games.

April 7 is Sports Day. Activities will take place on the preschool playgrounds 3-5 p.m. All types of sports will be available: baseball, basketball, golf, soccer, horse shoes, darts and bowling.

Come out and celebrate with your children for Old Fashion Fun Day on April 14, 9-11:15 a.m. Parents will have the opportunity to enjoy water play, arts and crafts, bike obstacle courses, bubble play and just "old fashion fun" with their children.

April 21 will offer all patrons an opportunity to enjoy a barbecue during Rodeo Roundup. A chicken barbecue dinner with all the "fixins" will be served to infant, pretoddler, and toddler rooms at 11 a.m. and preschool rooms at noon. All parents are invited to share in the festivities.

The cost is $1, and reservations must be made at the Monterey Road Child Development Center by April 14.

April 28 marks the annual spring Carnival on the MRCDC playgrounds. The carnival will run from 2-5:30 p.m. The fun will include face painting, water fights, ring toss, bean bag toss, team tug-o'-war and sack races. It will be a day of clowns, music and fun for adults and children.

All Child Development Services patrons are invited to come and enjoy the fun while recommitting to ensuring that each and every military young child has the best possible early childhood and lives in a community that values and supports each child and family.

If you are not a CDS patron but wish to participate, take the time to do something fun with your child or just simply give them a hug.

American Red Cross offers information on extreme weather, flood preparedness

Winter storms in California can be deadly, causing flooding, flash floods, high coastal surf, mudslides, snowstorms and avalanches. Your city, county, and state Offices of Emergency Services have prepared these brief safety tips to help you prepare, courtesy of the American Red Cross.

Wherever you live or travel, you should be aware of the dangers of winter storms and be prepared to cope with one. For more information of the history of flooding in your area, and how you and your family can prepare for winter, call your city or county Office of Emergency Services (in the Government section of the telephone book), or the nearest office of the National Weather Service.

Before the storm

Keep insurance policies, documents and other valuables in a safe-deposit box.

Check your homeowner's or renter's insurance for flood insurance coverage – if none exists, purchase.

Store supplies at work, at home and in handy locations:

- ☐ First aid kit and essential medicines.
- ☐ Food, including packaged, dried, canned, or food for special diets.
- ☐ Non-electric can opener.
- ☐ Keep some cash on hand. ATM machines may not be working.
- ☐ Portable radio, flashlights and extra batteries, stored in water-tight plastic bag.
- ☐ Store drinking water in closed, clean containers in case water service is interrupted. Allow one gallon of water per person per day for at least three days.

Keep your car fueled. If electric power is cut off, filling stations may not be able to operate.

Know safe routes from your home or office to high, safe ground.

Keep sandbags, plywood, plastic sheeting, lumber and other emergency building materials handy for waterproofing.

During the storm

Avoid areas that are subject to sudden flooding.

Do not try to cross a flowing stream where water is above your knees. Even water as shallow as 6 inches may cause you to be swept away by strong currents.

Do not try to drive over a flooded road. This may cause you to be both stranded and trapped.

If your car stalls, abandon it IMMEDIATELY and seek higher ground. Many deaths have resulted from attempts to move stalled vehicles.

Do not "sightsee" in flooded areas. Do not try to enter areas blocked off by local authorities.

Avoid unnecessary trips. If you must travel during the storm, dress in warm, loose layers of clothing. Advise others of your destination.

Use the telephone ONLY for emergency needs or to report dangerous conditions.

Tune to local radio or television stations for emergency information and instructions from local authorities.

If flooding is likely, and time permits, move valuable household possessions to the upper floors of your home.

If advised by local authorities to leave your home, move to a safe area before access is cut off by flood water. Establish an out-of-state "family contact" so that friends and relatives will know who to call to get information about where you are.

Before leaving, disconnect all electrical appliances, and if advised by your local utility, shut off electric circuits at the fuse panel and gas service at the meter.

After the Storm

DO NOT TURN GAS BACK ON YOURSELF. Rely on utility crews.

Do not use fresh foods or canned goods that have come in contact with flood waters.

Follow local instructions regarding the safety of drinking water. If in doubt, boil or purify water before drinking. Have wells pumped out and the water tested before drinking.

Avoid disaster areas. Your presence could hamper rescue and other emergency operations, and you may be in danger.

Do not handle live electrical equipment in wet areas. If electrical equipment or appliances have been in contact with water, have them checked before use.

Avoid downed power lines and broken gas lines. Report them immediately to the electric or gas company, police or fire department.

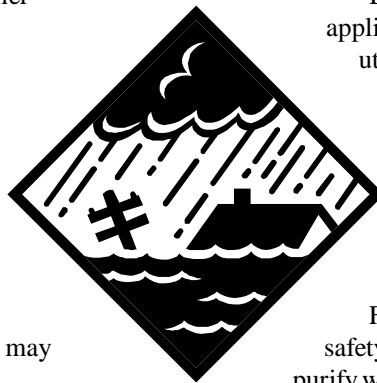

Use flashlights – NOT lanterns, matches or candles – to examine buildings; flammables may be inside. Stay tuned to radio or television for information and instructions from local authorities.

Flood insurance

Most homeowner's insurance policies do NOT offer protection against flood losses. For information about flood insurance, call your local insurance agent, or call the National Flood Insurance Program at (888) Call-Flood.

The American Red Cross assists community members in times of disaster: earthquake, flood, fire and other emergencies.

For more information, contact the Monterey County Chapter of the American Red Cross at 242-6800.
